INVITATION

“Deconstructing the Brexit debacle: What role for the EU27?”

What is the state of play of the Brexit negotiations?

What are the possible outcomes? No deal, “hard” or “soft” Brexit, no Brexit?

Is the UK heading for a constitutional crisis?

What is the process between now and 29 March, 2019?

What is the “transition period”?

Should the Article 50 period be extended?

Should there be a “People’s Vote”?

What role for the EU27?

What can we do next?

You are kindly invited to an open meeting organized jointly by the Oxford University Society of Luxembourg and the Cambridge Society of Luxembourg where the questions above, and many more, will be addressed.

Date and time: Tuesday, 19 June, 2018 from 19.00 to 21.00

Place: Centre Jean XXIII, 52 rue Wilhelm, 2728 Luxembourg

John Speed, retired director of the European Court of Auditors and Secretary of the (CoSL), and Stephen McCarthy retired Head of Division at the EIB and a member of the (OUSL), who are both active anti-Brexit campaigners, will talk on the topic before opening the meeting to a general discussion.

Drinks and nibbles will be available at the end of the meeting. There is no formal registration but it would be helpful if you could let John Speed speed@pt.lu or Stephen McCarthy sjmc@pt.lu know if you intend to come. And we will ask those who attend to contribute €10 to help cover the cost of refreshments and room hire.

This invitation is being distributed widely and we are looking forward to a good attendance and a vigorous discussion. The meeting will take place just a few days before an important European Council summit which should take important decisions on the withdrawal agreement, including the arrangements for the Irish border, citizens’ rights and the terms of the transition period.
